The present invention relates to an apparatus for recharging the battery of an electric vehicle such as an electric car, and more particularly to an apparatus for driving a generator to charge a battery to an almost full state immediately when an electric vehicle starts to run. Charging the battery of an electric vehicle to provide power for driving a starter motor has been a problem. This is because of the necessity of charging the battery to a high state immediately when the electric vehicle starts to run, if the electric vehicle is to start quickly. In order to solve the above problem, there has been proposed an apparatus for recharging a battery with power from the wheel of the electric vehicle as disclosed in Japanese Patent Laid-Open No. 61-258634.

The wheel-drive type battery charging apparatus for a vehicle of the present invention includes a generator driven by the power from a drive wheel of the vehicle, a circuit for detecting the fact that the generator is connected to a battery of the vehicle, and a battery charging circuit connected to the battery of the vehicle.

When the generator is connected to the battery of the vehicle, the battery charging circuit charges the battery of the vehicle to an almost full state through the connection between the generator and the battery. In the battery charging apparatus, the battery charging circuit is connected to the battery of the vehicle immediately after the generator is connected to the battery of the vehicle. Accordingly, the vehicle may start immediately by driving the starter motor after the generator is connected to the battery of the vehicle. Also, the battery charging apparatus of the present invention includes a timer circuit for measuring a predetermined time after the start of an engine of a vehicle, when the vehicle is stopped.
