Now, players will appear in true-to-life, realistic form, with players able to accurately replicate key biomechanical movements and how they affect the game. For the first time, players will also be able to create custom animations, allowing them to tailor their on-field movements and make their own unique looks. Key features include: New visuals and animations New play-calling system New set pieces New gameplay engine New ball physics New Personal Dressing Room Improved Pro Dressing Room Realistic Physics New play-calling system New animations Set pieces, free kicks and corner kicks have all been rebuilt with a new physics and animation system. As well as customising the colour of players' gear, the Dressing Room has full-on CG creation and kit-trimming options. New Pro Dressing Room The Pro Dressing Room has been redesigned from the ground up, offering a top-to-bottom visual overhaul and better organisation. Players can now refine their stats, directly compare their current and historic form, and even play solo versions of their Club Mode games. What's new:

- FIFA Ultimate Team. With over 30 million community members on all online platforms, FIFA Ultimate Team continues to be the sport's most engaged platform, making it the most popular way to play in all of FIFA. Over 100 million players have spent hundreds of hours building and managing their Ultimate Team in FIFA Ultimate Team. Now those experiences are coming to FIFA 22.
- Adjustable Defending. Apply the lessons from FIFA Ultimate Team and take control of your defence, with different defensive options at every skill level. Defending is also more flexible with the core defensive elements including Interceptions, Interceptions and Wholesale Tackles providing more reward for effective attack.
- New Tackling Controls. Unlike FIFA 19, in FIFA 22 you can switch between tackle and pull the player away from you, giving you new tools to control the defending skill as you pull it away from the player that you want to bring down.

Movement.

- New Snap. The best defenders in the game use the new Snap ability to disrupt offensive moves and generate chances. With the new Snap button you can activate it in a split second and use it to defend before the opponent has even moved.
- Free Kicks. The attacking player has more options in free kicks, starting the move with a lower Strike Zone, and attacking in better areas of the penalty box. Free kicks in this mode feel different with greater freedom of movement, delivering better movement off the ball and more unpredictability. Free kicks are in the moments to be expected and when attacking teams struggle for crosses into the box.

Ball control.

- Goalkeeper Sprint. FIFA 22 lets you master corner kicks like never before, with the ability to master corner kicks like never before.

- New Goalkeeper Positioning. With harder challenges and dodges in the new FIFA 22 Career Mode, goalkeepers are required to swap between the goalkeeping and additional positions. Getting to the correct position, timing the strikes correctly and active defensive responsibilities makes goalkeeping in FIFA career mode more challenging.
- Ball Control. The new ball control ability, including tackling, giving you the ability to apply full body tackles on headed balls.
