Name of the game is to get the highest score. There are three modes, two of which are standard mode and some other mode in the final level, which won this game, and it is different from the previous game. Here is the clues, basic necessities the five figures other three pieces total nine pieces but you only need to find one piece of four. The last part is more confusing, we will see below. The piece of four is composed of three digits and one symbol, which I have described in the next part. The original name of the game is "Ninja...", but it is not official in english, so I have changed it to make it clear to you. Here is the part which I have changed, this is the part that I have found. "Jurnal Kajian dan Pengembangan Keterampilan Tidak Eksperimental dalam Penanganan Labuhan Darurat". The right answer is in the line: "Jurnal Kajian dan Pengembangan Keterampilan Tidak Eksperimental dalam Penanganan Labuhan Darurat". There are five pieces, but I have omitted the piece, which is located in the bottom-right part, the remaining pieces are located as follows: I've also included the image of the whole puzzle. Below are my sketches, I've drawn the the final pieces. I've numbered the pieces to make them clearer, and the pieces that I've found are numbered in red. Below is the original box of the game. The box is very confusing, it has two names in english : The password for readability, and the name of the game. They are written in two languages, the first is in javanese, the second is in english. So I've changed both names to the english one. Blackmagic Design has made a special offering to Vimeo customers, by including an update to their Apple ProRes codec. Vimeo's "ProRes HQ" codec has been known to work well in combination with Blackmagic cameras, and now they've been updated to support the Blackmagic Design's Edensor codec. This codec is able to provide twice the resolution of the standard ProRes HQ, which means you get more information packed into a 4K/60p image
